The Therapeutic Relationship: Elaborations
Course Syllabus

Weeks 1 and 2. Therapeutic Uses of Resistance, Countertransference, Repetition, and Conflict.

Week 1 (1/8). Introduction to course.
__________, The concept of countertransference. Both In: Key Concepts in Psychoanalysis.
Random House, Chap. 12, pp. 290-312.

Week 2 (1/15).
Wachtel, P. L. (1993), Cyclical psychodynamics 1: Vicious circles (Chap. 2, pp. 16-30), and __________. Affirmation and change (Chap. 8, pp. 135-156). Both in: Therapeutic Communication: Knowing What to Say When, Guilford Pr.

Weeks 3, 4, and 5. Projective Identification, Mutual Influence, and Countertransference Disclosure

Week 3 (1/22).
Ogden, T. (1982), Introduction (Chap. 1, pp. 1-10) and,
__________. The concept of projective identification (Chap. 2, pp. 11-37). Both in: Projective

Week 4 (1/29).
Searles, H. (1959), The effort to drive the other person crazy. In: Collected Papers on

Week 5 (2/05).
Maroda, K. (1998), Why self-disclosure works in spite of the analyst's limitations
(Chap. 4, pp. 87-103), and
__________. Since feeling is first: projective identification and countertransference interventions (Chap. 5, pp. 105-120). Both in: Seduction, Surrender and Transformation: Emotional Engagement in the Analytic Process. Analytic Pr.

Week 6 (2/12).
A Self-Psychological View of the Therapeutic Relationship
Stolorow, R.D. and Atwood, G.F. (1992), Varieties of therapeutic alliance (Chap. 6),
pp. 87-102 and,
__________. Varieties of therapeutic impasse (Chap. 7), pp. 103-122. Both In:
Contexts of Being: The Intersubjective Foundations of Psychological Life. Analytic Pr.
Sandra L. Green, L.C.S.W.
Course Syllabus, Therapeutic Relationship: Elaborations
January-March 2009

Weeks 7 and 8. Working with Borderline and Negative patients

Week 9 (3/05). Trauma and the therapeutic relationship

Week 10 (3/12). Clinical Paradox and Process

Course evaluation.

